PLEASE HELP US TO CARRY ON.

THE JOINT EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE of the ounty Dublin Branch of the British Red Cross ociety and St. John Ambulance Association find it eccessary to make a Special Appeal to their Sub-cribers and the Public for Funds to carry on the work in which the Committee and its Branches have been engaged since its foundation at the out-break of the War in 1914. Except for the foundation of the Princess Patricia Hospital in 1915, no Appeal has since been made. The generous response received, together with Subscriptions, Donations, and Sums of Money raised by friends on behalf of the Committee, have provided funds enough to meet all expenses for the last two and a half years. THE COMMITTEE NOW FINDS ITSELF FACED WITH GREATER DEMANDS ON ITS RESOURCES THAN EVER BEFORE AND UNLESS THE EXTENSIVE WORKS OW BEING CARRIED ON FOR THE RELIEF OF THE WOUNDED ARE TO BE GREATLY CURTAILED FURTHER FUNDS ARE MOST URGENTLY

PLEASE HELP PRINCESS PATRICIA HOSPITAL.

The Committee is directly responsible for thir Officers' Hospital in Fitzwilliam street, which have already entailed an expenditure of about £5,500. TWO QUALIFIED ARTISTS. already entailed an expenditure of about £5.500. Grants amounting to £3,000 have been made to establish beds in the Dublin Hospitals. Over £4,000 have been spent on materials, and £4,000 articles of ciothing, etc., have been distributed. The Tobacco Department has distributed 1,635,000 cigarettes and 1,670lbs, of tobacco, thereby saving the donois £1,272 in duty.

Space will not permit the enumeration of the mainy other activities of the Society. They are, however, widely known, and the Committee feel sure that they have only to let the heart these.

that they have only to let it be known that funds are urgently needed in order again to receive such response as will enable their work to be carried on with undiminished vigour.

War Aims and Peace Terms. The crude demand of the advanced Socialists for an inconclusive peace is less dangerous than the new cry for a "comprehensive declaration" of British war aims and peace policy. Mr. H. G. Wells is one of the chief advocates of this course, and some of the Liberal newspapers are beginning to flirt with it. It is based on the theory that such a declaration would shorten the war by educating the German democracy. We are asked to believe that this democracy is now sick and penitent, and that German soldiers are kept in the trenches only by the Kaiser's re-Socialists for an inconclusive peace is less truth. Britain's war aims are no dark secret. They have been published a hundred times, and, if the Germans do not know them yet, we may abandon the task of getting them to know anything at allow of getting them to know anything at allow challenge Mr. Wells and his sympathisers to find any ambiguity in the statement which Mr. Asquith, then Prime Minister of England, made in the fourth month of the war. It was as follows:—

"We shall never sheathe the sword until Belgium recovers in full measure all, and that our Ministry (of Air), being independent, is "not paralysed by conflicts of powers which we (France) know." Mr. Pemberton Billing and other critics of our alleged inefficiency should be permanently shelved in view of that valuable opinion. Baron d'Estournelles de Constant was impressed with the number of Dominion pilots in our schools, and "began to understand the British Empire." At one single school he counted among 210 airmen twenty-two Canadians. We shall never sheathe the sword until Belgium recovers in full measure all, and more than all, that she has sacrificed, until France is adequately secured against the menace of aggression, until the rights of the smaller nationalities of Europe are placed upon an unassailable foundation, and until the military domination of and until the military domination of Prussia is wholly and finally destroyed." The advocates of a "comprehensive de-claration" will reply that, while Mr.

CRAMER, WOOD & Co, LTD | Asquith's statement, and his successor's repetition of it, may not be ambiguous, they have ceased to be adequate.
What the German people really fear is not so much the necessity of stuffs" the fixing of a maximum to stuffs." is not so much the necessity of restoring Belgium, Serbia, and Alsace might be inadvisable because the tendency and Lorraine to their rightful owners as prosperity. The Kaiser tells them that, if they are beaten, they will lose their colonies, will be mulcted in terrific indemnities, and, surrounded by a vengeful ring of economic enemies, will be squeezed ring of economic enemies, will be squeezed undertook that it would receive careful out of existence by the total destruction consideration. It will be remembered that of their foreign trade. Mr. Wells says, with much truth, that a mighty Empire at the end of May Sir Thomas Russell told with much truth, that a mighty Empire cannot be killed in this way, and that we ought frankly to recognise the fact. He does not suggest that Germany's colonies does not suggest that Germany's colonies does not suggest that Germany's colonies shall be restored to her. His plan is that though fortunately there is yet no sign of a milk famine, it is somewhat disquieting to be told by the Belfast deputation that the trading nations of the world. He thinks that Germany would be glad to thinks that Germany would be glad to thinks that Germany would be saure. make peace on such terms, in the assurance that no "League of Nations" would be formed to crush her legitimate desire for commercial expansion. Our answer is that present discussion of such plans would be premature, and far more likely to prolong the war than to shorten it. If it he true that Germany cannot prosent it he true that Germany cannot prosper without her colonies, she should have realised the fact before she invaded so wantonly the peace of Europe. To sug-gest the internationalisation of the Ger-the lives of the children should be safeman colonies now would be to invite guarded. We have it on high authority trouble with our own Dominions, which that the appalling infant mortality in have very definite views about the future of those colonies. All these matters will be the milk and to the scarcity of the supply BEVERLY SMYTH & SONS, proper subjects of discussion-after Germany is well beaten in the field. Perhaps, the Allied democracies will then favour Mr. Wells's plan, or, perhaps, England will agree, as the Provost of Trinity College has just suggested in The Times, of the infants are invariably far fewer to waive her gigantic claim for war indemnities in return for possession of the German colonies. Perhaps, France will the very praiseworthy efforts that have adopt a similar policy in regard to Alsace and Lorraine. The essential truth is, however, that to propose schemes for the ful. compelled to regard the suggested danger filment of which we have no shadow of security would be not merely a foolish, with grave anxiety. According to the but a dangerous, thing, since it must provoke controversy that would impair the British Empire's concentration on the war. 5,046 dairy cattle, and in Belfast one We can deal safely with Germany only after she has lost her power to strike, to bully, and to bribe. domination of Prussia. We advise our readers to have no truck the reach of the poor. with the fiction of a penitent Germany, and to reject all visions of an international militarism has been put out of the world for ever. The only Germany that will negotiate honestly with the Allies is a beaten Germany. The Germans believe still that they can bring the war to an end without being compelled to make restitution and reparation, and nothing would more surely confirm them in that belief than the elaborate statement of British war aims and peace terms which Mr. Wells and his friends demand. To resolpe that only the Allied arms can destroy German militarism is the best way

the only way—to induce the German democracy to anticipate the Allies in that task. If it is unwilling or unable, the Allies must do the work, for it must be done, and done effectually, before the disquesion of a secure basis of world-peace can be anything except a mockery, a de-lusion, and a snare. During the last few days hundreds of Irish soldiers have fallen gloriously in France. There are house-holds in Ireland to-day which have lost not one, but two or three, gallant boys : there are mothers and wives whose lives have been wholly darkened on this side of the grave. The men who ask us to talk with Germany now are asking us to run the risk that these Irish soldiers shall have died in vain. They have died "to make the world safe for democracy," to ensure that future generations of Irishmen shall be spared the horrors and miseries of war-and the next war, if German militarism survives to plan it, will be still more terrible than this war. For that all-sufficient reason we must have no confusion of counsels at the present erucial stage. Mr. Asquith's declaration, clear and ample, holds the field. British Aircraft.

We were well behind other nations in tent, and that German soldiers are kept in the trenches only by the Kaiser's representation of the utter ruin and disaster which an Allied victory would involve. We are told that the British Government has never stated its war aims in clear terms, that these aims cannot contemplate the final destruction of Germany, and that, if we assure the German people of this fact, and convince them that Hohenzollernism is the only obstacle to an early peace, Hohenzollernism will fall speedily mole suc. Like the person in "Alice in Wonderland," we must make our message—

France, who was well ahead of other Powers with motor vehicles and zero planes, has frequently eulogised our wonderful progress in this respect. The latest tribute comes from Baron d'Estournelles de Constant, who is charged with reporting for the France, he politicly chiques our administrators with having been even more indifferent than those in his own country. many proofs during the war that our diplomacy in the Balkans has been fatally ignorant and ineffective. Our representatives, both in Greece and Bulgaria, seem to have been most easily hoodwinked; but, considering the intimate relations so long maintained between England and Turkey, we had a right to expect that in Constantinople, of all places, we should not be handicapped by want of knowledge. It is, therefore, an unpleasant shock to find that the alliance between Germany and Turkey was completed on August 4th, 1914, the very day on which we declared war, and yet our Foreign Office apparently have nothing of it until two months later. What a very different course the war in the East might have run if we had been aware in August that Turkey was pledged to come in! The Goeben and the Breslau would have never been allowed to enter the Straits without a fight; that is certain for one thing. Again, if we had known that Greece intended to break her treaty with Serbia, we should not have issuaded Serbia from anticipating Bulgaria's attack.

As for the new Chanceller, he has already a taste of the difficulties that brought down his predecessor when he tried to sit on two stools at once. The records of Ministerial tergiversation in all countries might be searched in vain for a parallel case to that of Dr. Michaelis, who told the Reichstag in the morning that he had never accepted its peace resolution, and ate his own words on the very same afternor.

Another five thousand Austrian prisoners have been added to the Italians' bag, and, whilst continuing their heavy pressure on the Carso-Isonzo front, they have also successfully repulsed several attacks in the Trentino, where the enemy was endeavouring to create a diversion. There is nothing of exceptional importance in Sci Douglas Haig's early report, but our frops continued last night to make progress at Lens, and caused the enemy losses, which the Commander-in-Chief, who here exaggerates, describes as "particularly heavy."

A German newspaper estimates that the

A German newspaper estimates that the wealth of German people before the war amounted to from 16,000 to 18,000 millions amounted to from 16,000 to 18,000 millions sterling, and that the war expenditure has reduced it to half that amount. There is probably no exaggeration in that statement if the depreciation of property consequent upon the war is taken into account, as well as the direct outgoings. The war has already cost Great Britain directly between four and five thousand millions, and indirectly a good deal more, and Germany, in addition to keeping some ten million soldiers mobilised, has had to furnish heavy subsidies to Turkey and Bulgaria.

M. Cailleux, the French ex-Premier, is staying at Ouchy, near Lansanne, with his wife. Having regard to his record, I wonder if his arrival in Switzerland is in any way connected with the alleged meeting of international financiers in that country, at which Herr Helfferich is said to have been present, to arrange peace country, at which Herr Helfferich is said to have been present, to arrange peace this autumn. We all want peace, but not the kind of peace that international financiers would probably prefer. There is good ground, therefore, for the demand that the Government should disclaim any connection with the conference, assuming that it, was held, and state what action will be taken in the case of those British subjects, if any, who took part in it.

That there is a strong probability of the soldiers pay being raised in the near future is common knowledge, but I am alraid that the Eccaing Standard's statement that it is to be increased to 5s. or 5s. 6d. a day is too good to be true. and that it is to be increased to os. or bd. a day is too good to be true. Sorting to the journal's calculation, at would mean a rise in the war expenditure of from 125 to 130 millions a ar, and, though Tommy has no better send than Mr. Bonar Law, I am afraid, Chanoellor of the Exchequer, he would agle a little over such a gigantic addition to his liabilities.

TO-DAY.

When the inception of the rew Order of the British Empire was announced it was stated that it would be open to both seres alike, and a perusal of the first list of recipients shows that women have received a good proportion of the honours. Thus, of the seventeen "Companions of Honour," four are ladies. There are five Dames Grand Cross, headed by Her Majesty the Queen; a similar number of Dames Commanders (it is not stated whether this distinction carries with it the title of "Lady," but presumably it does), while among the "Commanders" there are twenty-one ladies, among the Officers fourteen, and among the Members fourteen. Ten wamen also figure in what is, in some respects, the most interesting part of the list—those to whom the medse of the Order has been awarded for services of special merit. These services are of the most various kind—punctuality, devotion to duty, courage, endurance, and resourcefulness.

We have unfortunately had only too many proofs during the war that our diplomacy in the Balkans has been fatally ignorant and ineffective. Our representatives, both in Greece and Bulgaria, seem

It should be explained that Professor Foerster's "Lord Balfour" is the present Foreign Secretary.

PORTUGUESE DESPATCH.

GERMAN DESPATCHES.

(ADMIRALTY, PER WIRELESS PRESS.)
The report issued from the German Main Headquarters yesterday afternoon is as follows:
Army Group of the Crown Prince Rupprecht—
In Flanders, the lively artillery activity on the section between Langemarck and Hollebeke only slackened. From time to time, at some places, it again reached the strength of drum-fire, but up to the present it has not been followed by attacks on a large scale.

Only near Westhock did the English carry out a partial attack, which met with no success. This morning early we wrested from the enemy the gain made by him during the recent fighting south of the Typres-Menin road. The lost trenches were recaptured, and held.

During the futile attacks on August 22nd the English lost 21 Tanks, which isy destroyed before our front. Some of the occupants, who had not been killed, were made prisoners.

Canadian troops again attempted to force their way into Lens, and into our positions adjacent thereto. During stubborn hand-to-hand fighting we retained all our former sines, and the enemy attack on the Arras-Doual railway line also failed.

Army Group of the German Crown Prince—On both sides of the Mouse, during some hours of the day, the artillery duel again increased to considerable intensity—in the Arocourt Wood, on Height 304, which during the night of August 21-22 we had evacuated in accordance with our plans, having left behind a weak garrison, the French to-day carried out a strong attack. They were received by our artillery fire.

The Italian official report issued yesterday afternoon says:—
The battle is continuing.
We have carried new positions, broken up the enemy's violent counter-attacks, and captured a large number of people Altogether, up to the present, we have removed from the battle-front more than 500 officers and 20,000 men; about sixty guns, mestly of medium calibre; numerous trench mortars and machine guns, and a large quantity of war material.
On high, our aviators, with untiring étan, and giving the enemy no truce, have bombarded his massed troops, and carried destruction into his communication lines by dropping fifteen tons of bomba on the Trentino front, where the enemy persists in his fruitless attempts to create a diversion.
We completely repulsed patrols in the Guidicarie, strong parties at the Zugno (Lagarina Valley), and at the Seikoll (Mount Croce of Comelico).

NEW AUSTRIAN GENERAL ARRIVES.

(PRESS ASSOCIATION WAR SPECIAL.)
UDINE, FRIDAY. Cammard Wood to the west.

North of Hill 304 they next attacked a series of fortified works reaching to the southern bank of Forges Brook, advancing to a depth of two kilometres.

Simultaneously they extended their positions north of Mort Homme to a depth of a kilometre.

The German afternoon report claims that they have wrested from the British the ground gained in the recent fighting south of the Ypres-Menin road, and that they have recaptured and hold their lost trenches. Also, they state, that during the attacks of August 22nd some 22 tanks were destroyed, and the survivors of the southern section, from Gorizia to the sea, needed a supreme chief for the unification of their forts, in order to strengthen their resistance and encourage counter-attacks with a view to regaining the ground lost. The presence of General von Hootzerndorf, however, has not, as yet, changed the situation, since, after five days battle, the Italians are pressing the Austrians closely, and with the same dash as distinguished them on the first day of their brilliant advance.

WORK OF BRITISH MONITORS. WORK OF BRITISH MONITORS.

A Udine telegram, dated Thursday, says:— British monitors have done splendid work in the Gulf of Trieste, in co-operation with the Italian Navy. With Italian ships, they carried out a bombardment of the Austrian lines east of Duino, and to the north of Miramar, as far as Nabesina, obtaining brilliant results. On the Carso front, the Austrian command brought up entire divisions, under the leadership of General Wurm, and violently counter-sttacked the Italians, but the positions captured by the latter remained definitely in their hands. The ability of the Italians in mountain warfare is really wonderful. The Austrians do not see them until the Alpini or Bersaglieri seem to them until the Alpini or Bersagieri seem to spring up from the ground, so close to their trenches that it is sometimes impossible for them to use their firearms. They are then obliged to fight with bayonets, a mode of war-fare which the Austrians dislike.

We print below the first list of the ne Orders were instituted it was stated officially that in recognition of the manifold services, voluntary and otherwise, that have been rendered both by British subjects and their Allies in connection with the war, His Majesty the King had been pleased to institute two Orders. Both Orders, though created in connection with the war, will, doubtless, survive it, inaamuch as they will be found to fill an important gap in the awards of honour for public services at the hands of the Sovereign.

The first of the Orders is an Order of Knight-The first of the Orders is an Order of Knight-hood, styled "The Order of the British Empire." It is conferred, as the title indicates, for services rendered to the Empire, whether at home or abroad. This Order follows, is most home or abroad. This Order follows, in most respects, the precedents of other Orders of Knighthood; but it consists of five Classes, and is given to women as well as men. The first two Classes will, in the case of men, carry the honour of Knighthood, and, in the case of women, the privilege of prefixing the title "Dams" to their names.

The second Order, which is closely restricted in number, is entitled "The Order of the Companions of Honour," and consists of one Class only, to which women are eligible equally with men. The Order carries with it no title or precedence, and is conferred upon a limited number of persons for whom this special distinction seems to be the most appropriate form of recognition, constituting, as it does, an Honour dissociated from either the acceptance of title or the classification of merit.

The appointments to the first two Classes of the Empire Order will involve personal investiture by the King, where practicable, and possibly the insignia of the other Classes will also be bestowed at a Royal investiture.

PRECEDENCE OF THE ORDER.

A supplementary London Gazette was issued last night containing the Royal Warrant creating the status of the Order of the British Empire. This states that the Order will rank next to, and immediately after, the Victorian Order, and before the Distinguished Service Order. Knights Grand Cross will have precedence immediately after Knights Grand Cross of the Victorian Order, and Dames Grand Cross will have precedence immediately before wives of Knights Grand Cross of the Order of the Bath, and may use the appellation of Dame before their Christian or first names. Knights Commander will have precedence immediately after Knights Commander of the Victorian Order; Dames Commander immediately before wives of Knights Commander of the Bath; and they may use the style of Dame. May 24th, each year, will be the anniversary of the institution of the Order.

ADMIRAL BACON AND THE DOVER PATROL.

Vice-Admiral Bacon, presenting Distinguished Service Medals and Military Medals to over fifty members of the Döver Patrol and the R.N.A.S., said that some people stated that they were tired of the war. They (Dover Patrols) had not got to be tired of war. They had got to help to fight the war, and not to talk about it, especially at this time, when the Germans were having a bad time of it. What was more, they were going to have a worse time during the next two months. They would have again and again to meet our troops, and again and again they would be forced back, and they knew it. Then, behind all, they had a hopeless winter of half-starvation to look forward to. Now was the time to throw themselves into any work that good fortune might bring their way. The Patrol had its teeth well into the German flanks, and formed a good atopper to the mouth of the Channel. He hoped that before the winter came they would have a chance of furnishing the Germans with still ruder shocks, and get yet better opportunities of making them, in that corner of the fight, regret and respect further the Dover Patrol.

HOW GAS IS MADE.

A WONDERFUL MACHINE.

The actual making of this gas, by the way, is carried on in the old Mariners' Church, which bears the date 1832. "We are still spreading the light," the manager remarked.

The foregoing is but a faint indication of the wonders and possibilities of gas-making. Columns might be written about meters as big as cottages, the skill and attention which are required for carburetting, the water gas, the recording instruments facing one at every turn, the tests and analyses of qualities and constituents of the gas, the 110 h.p. gas engines which make electric current for working the record and other machinery, the huge travelling scoops of coal, and the building in which brass plates bearing the names of Rathmines, Pembroke, South City, and so on, indicate the valves wherewith one can cut off the gaseous breath of one district or another, and regulate it as the mute requests come in.

Nor must one forget to mention that not only gas comes from the quarter-of-a-mile broad plant at Ringsend, but a valuable chemical manure, and other by-products which, with a little alteration, are used to shatter German and Turkish trenches.

pense of Mr. Heary Roe, a citizen of Dublin, between the years 1871-1877—the organ being transferred from the screen to the north transept, and a new screen crected. It was effectively heard at the re-opening of the fight, flying low over the hill-top, endeavouring to fight, flying low over the hill-top, endeavouring to pick off the French infantrymen with their machine guns. They are still frequent visitors to the "Dead Man," and on the way up this morning I winessed an encounter between a view of erecting a new organ, retaining, however, the best parts of the old instrument. As suitable specification was drawn up by the builders in conjunction with Dr. Kitson, and the first section of the new organ has recently been completed.

Harrison's new instrument will have four manuals (great, swell, choir, and solo), CC to A (58 notes), and two-and-a-half octaves of pedsla—radiating and concave—CCC to F (30 notes). There will be 45 speaking stops and 19 couplers, etc., making a total of 64 draws stops. In addition, there will be combination pistons, reversible pistons, and balanced crescende pedsl to swell and solo organ, the whole to be blown by a Discus electric blower, by Watkins-Watson. Surely a noble instrument, and worthy of the mother Church of the Diocese of Dublin.

The list of the erganists of Christ Church from 1537 to the present day includes such notabilities as John Farmer, Thomas Bateson, Randal Jewitt, Daniel Roseingrave, Dr. Rogers, Dr. Woodward, Dr. Doyle, Dr. Murphy, Dr. Robinson, Sir Robert Stewart, John Horau, and others. In the year 1896 the north-west corner of the nave was assigned as a "Musician's Corner."

By order of the General Commanding the army corps attacking the "Dead Man" and Goose Hill, maps, prepared from photographs taken by aeroplanes of the destruction wrought by the French fire, were given to company officers, with orders that they should explain to their men, day by day, the damage done, and the position and character of the German trenches, redoubts, and centres of resistance destroyed. The men were thus fully aware that there was scarcely a point where the German defences were intact, and they strongly appreciate the pains taken to render their own necessarily dangerous and difficult task as easy as possible.

AMERICAN COMMANDER PRESENT.

General Pershing, the American Commander, in-Chief, was the guest of General Cervisart, commanding an army corps, on August 20, and witnessed the magnificent advance of the French infantry from an observatory. The corps captured the "Dead Man," Crows' Wood, and Goose Hill, and the American Commander was able to follow the progress of the infantry over the creat of Goose Hill. Owing to the nature of the ground, and to the frequency of tunnels, the German line in this sector was more thickly held than anywhere elso. Four thousand prisoners, more than half the total number, were taken by this corps alone, while ten heavy guns were captured, and nine destroyed. The corps has besides several field guns among its trophica Generals Cervisart and Pershing both served as Military Attachés in Tokio, and when through the Russo-Japanese War with Marshal Oyama's Staff. It is a curious fact that the German Divisional Commander holding the lines opposite, General Etzel, was the German Military Attaché with the Japanese Army, and was known to both Generals Cervisart and Pershing.

known to both Generals Cervisart and Pershing.

AN AMERICAN FLYING SQUADRON.

The Lafayette Flying Squadron, composed of American volunteer aviators, took part in the battle. It is in keeping with the characteristic watchfulness of the German High Command that they made provision, as far as possible, for every conceivable move on the part of the French, likely as well as unlikely. Thus roads were cut in order to prevent us passing along them, and among the corps' trophics is one of the special German anti-Tank gans. Similarly, the canal, which borders the Meuse on the right bank, was drained, because the enemy feared we should attack Talou Hill from the canal in boats. The Germans brought up their Verdun Army before the battle to the strength of twelve divisions. They had four divisions in the front line on the left bank, and three on the right bank, two divisions in the second line on each bank, and one, the Sixth, in reserve. In accordance with their usual tactics, the Boches on the right bank held the front as lightly as possible, intending to allow us to capture ground, and relying on their counter-attack to get it back. They were, however, deceived. Consequently the storm troops massed for the counter-attack found themselves "in the air." The new French front could only be reached by a long advance through one of the heaviest barrages any troops were ever asked to face. As a result, only half-hearted attempts were made to dislodge us.

On the left bank, where, as on the Chemin des Dames, the possession of the observatory line was the all-important point, the enemy could not afford to let his advanced line or taken, sad, consequently, the German front line on its side was very strongly held, a fact which accounts for the extraordinarily high number of prisoners taken there. On a front of a little over three miles, from the "Dead Man" to the river in the Crow's Wood, the entire regiment of the 20th Brandenburg Reserve Infor capture having now fallen. Hill 304 is a long, naked crest, running east and west, which danks the Dead Man to the east. Its value lay chiefly in the menace it offered to the French positions on the Dead Man, the eastern side of which was under easy observation from Hill 304. The enemy held only the eastern half of the crest. The French were established on the western end, and their line followed the German trenches acress the southern face of the ridge, at a distance of a couple of hundred yards. The whole base of the position was in the hands of the French, who had pushed out on both sides on Monday, almost enclosing the hill. Yesterday the German works on the crest were submitted to a terrific hammering by our heavy artillery preparatory to the final operation. Our line has now been carried forward 2,000 yards, in front of Hill 304, and this, coupled with our advance from the foot of the Dead Man, has straightened out our new line in front of the Forges Brook. capture having now fallen. Hill 304 is a

The French expert commentator says:—
While the battle of the Isomo continues so the advantage of our Italian Allies, the battle of Verbuin is marking time, though the stillery remains very active. To-day there was no infantry action. One must not, however, be aslowished at the inevitable stops for a moment. We hold almost what was ours before the German attack in February, 1916. The result it is considerable, from the point of view both it is considerable, from the point of view both since August 20th we have taken 24 guns of the full value of the attack, which it was impossible for the enemy to resist.

In Flanders, the British troops recommenced the struggle both in the Ypres region and any prophecies respecting in possible for the enemy to resist.

In Flanders, the British troops recommenced the struggle both in the Ypres region and accounding opinion. This impression is considerable, carried vesterday a whole series of points d'appui, particularly forts, on both sides of the Ypres-Menin road, the proximity of which was embarrassing.

At Lens the British are daily drawing closer the investment of the town. Thus, at numerous points of the German line of defence the Allies, at first in was of its defeat gradually filter through.

THE GALLANT CANAIHANS.

SIR DOUGLAS HAIG AND THE (REUTER'S TELEGRAM.) OTTAWA, FRIDAY.

Sir Douglas Haig has sent the following message to General Curris:—"I derire to congratulate you personally on the complete and important success with which your command of Canadian Corps has been inaugurated. The Divisions you employed on August 15th totally defeated four German Divisions, whose tesses are reliably estimated at more than double those suffered by the Canadian troops. The skill, bravery, and determination shown in the attack, and in maintaining the positions won against repeated heavy counter-attacks, were in all respects admirable."

GERMANS KILLING IRISH PRISONERS.

NEW YORK, Avaust 24.

Ex-Ambassador Gerard sent a message to brishmen in Chicago yesterday, telling them of the German cruelty to Irish prisoners.

"I was given accret information by Germans," he said, "that the guards were aborting and killing Irish prisoners. Others are dying in the prison comp from starvation and tuber-sulosis."

GERMANY AND THE U BOATS.

DR. HELFFERICH'S DECLARATION.

REPLY TO MR. LLOYD GEORGE. (REUTER'S TELEGRAM.)

AMSTERDAM, FRIDAY. AMSTERDAM, FRIDAY.

The Vice-Chancellor (Dr. Helfferich), in the course of a speech, said that in 1917 tiermany's world trade would presumably have reached the level of Great Britain's. It is precisely in this development that we find the real cause of Great Britain's intervention in the war. This war is the result of the tension created by the fact that Great Britain was constantly feeling the glaring and increasing dispreportion between her superior naval and world power and Germany's increasing economic strength. One ought clearly to realise that Great Britain's object in this war is our economic oppression. To abandon oneself to any illusion in this respect would be fatal.

In another passage in his speech Dr. Helfferick.

His statements respecting British shipbuilding must be viewed with the utmost doubt. After quoting from reports of the French Shipping Department, and from discussions in the French Chamber upon them, the Vice-Chancelior emphasised the fact that, for a continuation of the U boat warfare all the material and personsel required were ready in ample measure, so that in a military respect there could not be any doubt as to its being continued efficiently.

NAVY SECRETARY'S STATEMENT. The Secretary for the Navy, Admiral von Capelle, stated that the lesses suffered by the Allies during the unrestricted submarine war were actually ten per cent. higher than at the beginning of February.

BAVARIAN SOCIALISTS DISAPPOINTED.

DISAPPOINTED.

ZURICH, THURSDAT.

The Muchener Post, the leading Socialist organ in Bavaria, expresses much disappointment with the German Chancellor's reply to the Pope's Peace Note. It says we expected an explicit statement of the attitude of the German Government towards the Note, but Dr. Michaells, the representative of the Council Authority, allowed Marshal von Hindenburg to speak first on the war situation. He had hoped that the speech of the Chancellor might be filled with the spirit of the Pope's, but Dr. Michaells summoned the enemy before his judgment seat, and delivered the apech of a Crown prosecutor, full of accurations. At the moment when the German Government was greeting with aym pathy the peace proposals of the Pope, the Chancellor presented a long debit account against Russia, which could only be charged to fallen Russian autocracy. That is a remarkably sympathetic greeting to the Pope's Note seeking to reconcile the nations.

AUSTRIAN EMPEROR AND THE WAR.

A Vienna telegram states that the Austrian Emperor, in receiving a deputation of the Croatian Landtag, said everybody must wish this terrible war to come to its end. He himself would do everything possible to obtain an honourable peace. They might rest assured that the war would not last a day longer than was absolutely necessary.

concentration of men and material. This is menace is not so much on land or in air, but on water.

U BOATS AND FINE WEATHER.
The opinion, which is shared also by Mr. Lioyd George, that fine weather is particularly according to the carried activity, is a mistaken one. A smooth sea and a lull in the wind are very disagreeable for U boats, especially in view of the enemy's defensive measures. Particularly as regards air craft, some of the U boat commanders are of opinion that U boat warfare can be carried on the sill better results when the weather is not too fine and the nights are longer. Of course, it has in quickly cluding U boats' attack. Of course, as sea traffic diminishes the sinkings will probably gradually decrease. To-day the sinking of even one single ship is much more intensely felt by the Entente than in the beginning of even one single ship is much more intensely felt by the Entente than in the beginning of even one single ship is much more on the sinking of even one single ship is much more on the sinking of even one single ship is much more on the sinking of even one single ship is much more on the sinking of even one single ship is much more on the sinking of even one single ship is much more on the sinking of even one single ship is much more on the sinking of even one single ship is much more of the U boat war. The statements of our Naval Staff respecting the tomage resources of Great Britian may be regarded as exact. Mr. Lloyd George's statements of our Naval Staff respecting the tomage resources of Great Britian may be regarded as exact. Mr. Lloyd George's statements are an artificial manipulation of figures. He mixes up the net and gross losees, anxiously avoiding the five of the statements of the statement STOCKHOLM, FRIDAY. on the despatch of delegates to Stockholm on the basis of the new allocation was adopted by 2,124,000 votes against 145,000. The majority in favour of Stockholm was thus 1,049,000.

Reuter's Agency adds:—The above is published because a statement appears in the columns of Mr. Branting's paper. The Social Democrat, and shows the point of view which prevails in Stockholm regarding the voting at the recent Labour Conference in London.

OPPOSING FRENCH SOCIALISTS.

OPPOSING FRENCH SOCIALISTS.

PARIS, FRIDAY.

The Petit Parisien, after having published the arguments of the Socialists in favour of the Stockholm Conference, now publishes an article by M. Compere Morel, a member of the Chamber, putting forward they point of view of the Socialists opposed to the Conference. The first proves that the idea of the Conference originated with the German Imperial Socialists, who manifested the wish to to have recourse to the good offices of the Internationale long before the Dutch Scandinavian Committee. The Allied projetariats should, therefore, distrust this German auggestion as they would beware of her new inventions—asphyxiating gases and incendiary pellets. M. asphyxiating gases and incendiary pellets. M. Morel believes with that ardent patriot, M. Plekhanot, that to approve of Stockholm would be to risk introducing trouble and disorder into the ranks of our Russian Allies by leading them to believe that Stockholm means to believe that Stockholm means and the stockholm means to be the stockholm means are stockholm.

MR. MONTAGU'S VISIT TO INDIA.

PRESS COMMENTS.

(REUTER'S TELEGRAM.) Commenting on Mr. Montagu's forthcoming visit, the Civil and Military Gazette says.—Much depends on the way Mr. Montagu conducts his inquiry. It would be a great mistake if the Viceroy and Indian Government were to take up a secondary position in formulating a scheme of political reform.

The Madras Mail remarks:—The visit is, on the whole, welcome, but if Mr. Montagu thinks a second short visit to India and contact with a few officials and educated Indians at Delhi will qualify him to judge the situation accurately, he is making a serious mistake. The Madras Times observes:—The great body of people will recognise it to be a great step forward.

The Hindu says:—This long awaited announcement smacks very much of the Guber-BOMBAY, WE Second Lieutenant R. R. Cathcart.—Second Lieutenant R. R. Cathcart, officially reported killed in action on 16th mat., was the fourth and youngest son of Mr. Win. Cathcart, Clerk of Omagh Union. Second Lieutenant Cathcart was serving in the Royal Inniskilling Fusiliers. He volunteered in Canada, where he was at the outbreak of war, and arrived in England in February, 1915. In March of the following year he was posted to a cadet corps, and was gazetted to the commissioned rank in the Inniskillings on July 7th, 1916. Shortly afterwards he was sent to France, from which he was invalided in the spring of the present year, and he had only returned to the front a couple of months before his death.

Second Lieutenant N. Allman-Smyth.—News has reached Nenagh that Second Lieutenant N. Allman-Smyth, Royal Inniskilling Fusiliers, son of Mr. R. Allman-Smyth, ex-County Inspector, R.I.C., Nenagh, and a nephew of the Primate of Ireland, has been wounded in action.

Second Lieutenant W. R. Brereton-Barry.—Second Lieutenant W. R. Brereton-Barry, Royal Dublin Fusiliers, officially reported wounded and missing since Angust 16th, is the second son of Judge Brereton-Barry, Langara, Glemangeary, Co. Dublin. He obtained a commission in February, 1916, when he was just 18 years of age.

Mr. Gordon finds the "four' bases" of the British soldier's character to be—(1) A belief in God; (2) devotion to a cause which overrides self-interest; (3) the discipline of the Army; (4) a strong sense of convadeship. The first is almost universal, though in widely differing forms, from a mere fatalism to a reasoned trust in a Fatherly providence. TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.
Sin,—Cannot you point out to Lord Rhondda that the most just and fair, means of bringing down meat prices, if it has to be done, would be for him to establish, say, a dozen meat shops in Dublin-or get it done by the Municipality—and let the meat be sold there in those shops at whatever price he considers that it can be done for? By so doing he need not interfere with the farmers in any way. Of course, those shops would be altogether under Government control.—Yours, etc.,

"A WORKINGMAN."

THE GOVERNMENT AND FARMERS.
TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.
Sin.—Sir T. W. Russell is now becoming "Job's comforter" to the farmers in saying that 14s. per barrel will be a fair price for oats after the war. It is most cheery for the public, but not for those who till heavy land.
The climate is certainly not going to change.
Wages, taxes, harness, machinery, etc., are not going to come down. I am at present cutting ell I can with a reaper and binder, and setting the rest at £3 per acre to cut and save by hand. I do not complain of labourers getting real good wages—I think they should be very well paid—but the public cannot have it both ways, and expect to buy everything at pre-war prices immediately it is over.

The dealing with one's own produce at the farm needs to be much more clearly explained to farmers. They at present believe that they can do nothing with it till the Government comes and buys it—and then only if it weighs 42th, to the bushel. In the meantime the farmer must starve himself and stock.—Yours, etc., THE GOVERNMENT AND FARMERS.

Assistant Secretary, accompanied the deputation.

The deputation was introduced by Mr. Gill. and a discussion lasting several hours took place, which dealt with all the aspects of the case from the points of view of the live stock and tillace outlook.

Lord Rhondda reviied that he would give the most careful consideration to all the points that had been put before him.

PROTESTS AGAINST THE CATTLE ORDER.

At the meeting of the Limerick County Committee of Agriculture yesterday the Chairman, Lord Emly, moved a resolution, which was adopted, protesting against the action of the Food Controller in fixing the price of beef for January at 60s. per cwt., a price which would mean bankrupicy to the producers of store cattle, a stoppage of all stall-feeding in the tillage districts, and would seriously affect the extra tillage required in 1918.

Speaking at a meeting of the North Tipperary Agricultural Committee, at which a resolution was adopted protesting against Lord Rhondda's Order. Mr. Bridge said the Food Controller had stated that he hoped to reduce the cost of feeding stuffs; but no definite guarantee of this had yet been given. No farmer wanted to see excessive prices for beef charged to the consumer, but the action of the Food Controller tended to kill the stall-feeding of cattle.

A resolution expressing alarm at the beef prices fixed for January, which would mean disaster for tillage farmers, was passed by the Killulagh Farmers' Association.

MISAPPROPRIATION OF TRUST FUNDS.

OVER $11,000 INVOLVED.

OVER $11,000 INVOLVED.

At the North London Police Court yesterday, Thomas William Dye, 60, we ollen merchant, of Woodfield, was remanded with misappropriation of trust funds to the amount of £11,800, the property of Mrs. Alice Maud Canning, of Cheshire.

Counsel for the prosecution explained that accused was, by Mr. Canning's will, made sole executor and trustee of the estate, with directions to realise the property, and to invest the proceeds in stocks, and pay the dividends to Mrs. Canning for life, and on her death to pay interest in equal shares to the surviving children. Mr. Canning died in 1906. Pefendant bought stocks and shares in his own name, and dividend warrants were sent to him, and he sent his own cheque to Mrs. Canning for the amounts they represented, with counterfoils of the warrants. The interest was paid regularly until carly in the present year.

Mr. George Henry Hindley, solicitor, Livernool, said he wrete the accused, who came to his office, and informed him that he had used the trust funds in the business of Dye and Dixon, and the bank had advanced £9,000 on the securities which he first deposited five years, ago. The securities were made over to the hank in November, 1916. The affairs of Dye and Dixon had been put into the hanks of chartered accountants, who had ascertained that the liabilities of the firm were £7,000, with assets worth £3,500, consisting of stock and hock debts.

Bail was fixed in two sureties of £250 each.

DUBLIN STOCK EXCHANGE.

The feature of the day on 'Change was the continued excitement in Dunlop Securities, in which a very big business was passing at a further decline in prices. At the close London supporting orders were sent in, and part of the set-back in Parent Tyre Deferred was recovered. Breweries and Distilleries were a good market, but Textiles were dull. The Funds were firm but featureless.

Baronial Guaranteed and Tramways were neglected.

Dunlops were extremely active, and appeared in a fluctuating mood owing to support for London and selling for local account. Parent Tyre Ord. were well bought at 23s. 6d. up to 23s. 10id., a rise of 10id., but the Deferred fluctuated between 50s. 9d. and 51s. 6d., and closed at 51s., a fresh relapse, of 1s. The Pref. at 15s. 9d. were still on offer. Dunlop Rubber opened 1s. down at 82s. 9d., and then fell to 80. Among South Americans, Peruvian Corporation Ord. closed it to the good. Argentine and Brazilian issues were quiet.

HOME RAILS QUIET.

Home Rails agged quietly from lack of support. Southern Stocks showed firmness in the price of Dyers and Calicos for an edd lot in the latter case. Coats and Cottons were steady. White, Tomkins, and Courage Ord. marked 23s. 7id. and Parkes and Sons Pref. 15s. 3d.
